After graduating with dual degrees from Washington University in St. Louis, Jade received her professional doctorate in law, Juris Doctor, from the Paul M. Hebert Law Center at Louisiana State University in 2010. She graduated from LSU cum laude, and received a graduate diploma of civil law, reflecting an emphasis in the study of Louisiana civil law. While a student at LSU, she also received two academic scholarships and was an avid competitor in the Ira S. Flory Trial Competitions. Today Jade represents clients throughout Missouri, Illinois, and Louisiana. Jade joined the firm in 2015 as an associate.
